

RULE 1 OF 2014: AWEBBSA: CODE OF CONDUCT

Introduction

This Code of Conduct is not intended to create a bureaucratic, regulatory environment, but rather, to promote and enhance the Association's values of integrity, respect and fairness. To quote for the minutes of the founding meeting of AWEBBSA held on 7 September 2014: "It was decided to start a new association which will focus on breeding budgies and to have a mutual respect for other breeders."

The Code of Conduct is designed to promote honesty, civility and equality and to serve as a constant reminder to AWEBBSA members to show due consideration and respect to fellow members sharing in the wonderful hobby of breeding and exhibiting budgies.

If every AWEBBSA member treated every other member and the public with honesty, respect, courtesy and consideration there would hardly be a need for a Code of Conduct.

However, the need exists to provide guidelines to members with regard to their relationship with each other, office-bearers, judges and the public and to indicate the spirit in which members should behave.

The primary purpose of the Code is a positive one, viz. to promote exemplary conduct. Notwithstanding this, a member shall be guilty of misconduct if he or she contravenes any provision of the Code of Conduct or fails to comply with any provision thereof.

Mindful of the fact that even the most courteous and considerate of people like a predetermined code of acceptable conduct, this Code of Conduct has been adopted for the Association.

It is expected that an AWEBBSA member:

- R1.1 Is polite, helpful and respectful in his or her dealings with fellow members and the public and at all times treating members of the public as potential members;
- R1.2 Will not knowingly contravene the Code of Conduct, the AWEBBSA Constitution and any of the Rules;
